

The Wesleyan Alumnae

Vol. XVII

No. ¹5

February, 1942

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

PUBLISHED QUARTERLY BY THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION OF WESLEYAN COLLEGE
MACON, GEORGIA

NOVEMBER, FEBRUARY, MAY, AUGUST

Subscription Price, $1.00 per year

Entered as second-class matter February 12, 1925, at the Post Office at Macon, Georgia under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Executive Secretary:
Jennie Loyall

Volume XVII, Number 5

Editor:
Eunice Thomson

ANNOUNCEMENTS

"Dedication Day"—May 12

"Dedication Day," for the buildings, rooms, and tablets honoring those benefactors who helped Wesleyan during the recent campaign will be held on May 12, with Bishop Arthur J. Moore, president, in charge. All alumnae are invited to attend.

Annual "Alumnae Day"—May 12

Because of war conditions, there will be no regular Alumnae Day at Commencement this year, but the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association will take place on the afternoon of May 12, following the Dedication Ceremonies of the morning. The portrait of May-ling Soong Chiang, given to Wesleyan because of alumnae contributions to China, will be presented at this time.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

Wesleyan In War Time

Many times during her more than a century of existence Wesleyan has had to adjust herself to conditions of war. Again she faces a world at war and makes plans, quietly and sanely, to take the place where she can be most useful. This war already is different from any we have known before, and it is hard to keep from rushing blindly into activity of some sort at once. At Wesleyan we have a Committee for Coordination of Defense Activity whose duty it is to find out where we may serve most effectively and to arrange for training for service in various fields.

"Get As Much Education As You Can"

A college president recently told his students that the need of a liberal education was never more urgent than today. If a new order of freedom is to be established after the present struggle is over, new leaders must be developed. The peace which we all hope for will depend upon the men and women of vision.

Even in colleges for men, students are being advised to stay in the classroom until their country calls them. Certainly in colleges for women the most patriotic work to be done is that of keeping alive the pursuit of knowledge in a world where it has had all too little chance for survival.

Bishop Arthur Moore, president of Wesleyan, who, since 1937, has seen war come to friends he loves and countries where he has labored, said:

"We are at war. The enemy would invade our land and destroy the best of everything we have built. In days like these everyone must be found doing something sacrificial. Wesleyan College is committed to a policy of service. This means at least two things: First, we must continue to do a good, thorough job in education. This is not the time for short cuts in preparing for the business of living. Second, we must see to it that Wesleyan serves the cause of freedom. The courses which are being offered for national defense will prove invaluable to us all. Let us then live bravely, creatively, and confidently."

Chapel Programs

On December 8 the chapel hour was changed in order that everyone on the campus might hear the President's Declaration of War.

In December Mrs. Carter Collins, wife of Colonel Collins of Camp Wheeler, was asked to tell us how we might best help the Red Cross. Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, Wesleyan alumna and Chairman of the Women's Defense Council for Bibb County, introduced Mrs. Collins, who suggested five things:

1. Join the Red Cross.
2. Take a course in first aid.
3. Buy defense stamps and bonds.
4. Knit and sew for the Red Cross, under the direction of their chairmen.
5. Wait patiently until further activity is requested.

In January Virginia Harvey, senior, spoke on the attitude of the students in the present crisis.

Also in January Vice-President Silas Johnson spoke to the students, announcing new courses in defense training. He told the students that, unless there were developments not now foreseen, no change was to be made in the length of the college year. Additional war-work courses may be, however, added at the summer school at Wesleyan Conservatory.

New Courses

Four new courses were added to the Wesleyan curriculum after Vice-President Johnson and Dean S. L. Akers had had conferences with General A. R. Emery, Colonel B. E. Wheeler, and Colonel Guy C. McKinley of Camp Wheeler to discuss these. They are:

First Aid, under the direction of the Physical Education department with Miss Mildred Cartledge in charge. Mrs. Dorothy Ramsey, local director of the Red Cross, is working with the Wesleyan teachers in planning this course. The students are to substitute First Aid training for one of their three regular weekly periods of physical education, and to give two additional hours a week of their own time. Several sections are already well advanced in First Aid.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, to be taught by Miss Florence Beasley, Registered Nurse in charge of the Wesleyan Infirmary.

Radio, including the sending and receiving of code messages, to be given by Mr. Roy Domingos of the Wesleyan Conservatory faculty, in consultation with Camp Wheeler officers in the communications department. On January 28 Colonel S. T. Hames and Lieutenant Lee S. Quarterman of Camp Wheeler came to Wesleyan to give the aptitude test for this course. Of 150 students taking the test approximately one-third were declared suited to this type of work. They will begin work at once on this course.

Motor Mechanics, a course designed to teach students how to drive under unusual and difficult conditions, how to make minor adjustments in motors, what to do in case of evacuation of cities will be taught by Dr. Bailey Wade of the Wesleyan faculty, assisted by Major James S. Wade of Camp Wheeler.

Faculty Loss

On January 27 Professor George Coates Collins, head of the department of journalism, left for Charleston, S. C. to take up his duties as an ensign in the U. S. Navy department. Professor Collins came to Wesleyan in 1938, following two years experience with Texas and Chicago newspapers. He received the M.S. degree from the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern.

We rejoice that the services of Jean

PROF. GEORGE C. COLLINS
Called to active duty in the Navy

(Oliphant) Rentz have been secured to complete the college year. Jean is a Wesleyan graduate of 1917, is secretary of her class, and has filled this same position since 1938 after the resignation of Miss Virginia Garner as head of the department of journalism.

Co-operation in Entertainment of Soldiers

Wesleyan students have attend many entertainments and balls given for officers and men at Camp Wheeler and Cochran Field. On innumerable occasions groups of girls and their chaperons have gone to these camps to give programs of music or speech. The girls have been encouraged to invite their friends of the army to dinner at the college on Sundays, and any visitor to the campus on the week-ends would think Wesleyan had gone co-educational!

Early in the college year General John H. Hester, then commander at Camp Wheeler and now at Camp Blanding, Florida, spoke to the girls in chapel asking their help in keeping up the morale of the boys in camp.

Air Raid Precautions

Wesleyan has the safest possible air-raid shelter to be found anywhere in the mile and a half of tunnel which connects the buildings on the Rivoli campus. The tunnel is large enough for the average person to stand erect in and to allow each girl approximately six square feet of room.

A staff of Air Raid Wardens has been appointed with Miss Katherine Johnson, counsellor of women, in charge. Miss Johnson came to Wesleyan this year after 18 years teaching English in the Hiroshima School in Japan, and has had experience in the past few years in actual air raids. Her talks to various student groups have been most helpful.

Daytime Air Raid Wardens for the various buildings are: Tate Hall, Miss Elizabeth Winn; Science Hall, Dr. Thelma Howell; Gymnasium, Miss Mildred Cartledge; Library, Miss Katharine Carnes; Olive Swann Porter Building, Miss Florence Beasley and Miss Nannette Rozar; Freshman Hall, Mrs. C. K. C. Ausley; Junior-Senior Hall, Mrs. Ausley; Sophomore Hall, Mrs. Lawrence Gray; Power House, roofs, and grounds, Mr. Redmond.

From 6:30 P.M. to 8:30 A.M. wardens are: Carol Biel, Martha Martin, Jane Methvin, Martha Agnes Wolff, Alda Alexander, Virginia Sutherland, Elizabeth Johnson, Virginia Powell, Juanita McLean, Betty Anderson, Betty Liipfert.

As A Senior Sees The Present Situation

By Virginia Harvey, member of the class of 1942

(Chapel talk to the student body)

We seniors at Wesleyan can remember a strange broadcast we heard when we were freshmen. Hysteria reigned. Some of us started packing; others grabbed phones to call home; still others had to be taken to the infirmary. We seniors can admit all this now.

That was a make-believe invasion, the brain child of Orson Welles. But a few Sundays ago we listened to similar reports of another invasion. This time it was real. Japanese planes had attacked Pearl Harbor. We knew that these reports meant that within a few hours our country would be at war and that we, along with every other American, would be affected. Yet there was no hysteria this time; we sat quietly and listened to our radios.

Since then we have watched Americans respond to the needs of a nation at war. Our fathers are working overtime to see to it their link in the chain of national defense will be strong. Our mothers are facing the task of feeding the family on less as food prices mount and the staggering income tax must be paid this spring. Our brothers and friends are now in army or navy training camps, or even now actually fighting the enemy. Everyone has been affected, everything changed; everything, it seemed to many of us, except Wesleyan.

Oh, there have been a few changes, we admit. We now read the headlines before we turn to the society section of our newspapers. We buy defense bonds and stamps at the bookstore. And new defense courses are being offered. But essentially and fundamentally everything seems to be moving along about the same. While the army is fighting valiantly against overwhelming odds in the Pacific, we are struggling with the job of writing a one-act play for a Shakespeare course. While bombs are falling on Manila others of us are reading Browning: "Grow old along with me, The best is yet to be." And over the whole school one could feel the irony of the situation.

We looked about us. Everyone else seemed to be adapting himself to a new situation, fitting himself to serve his country. We alone were the misfits. We were simply parasites who took everything and gave nothing in return.

There was talk of leaving school, of not coming back for the second semester. We were going to become Red Cross nurses, ambulance drivers, even welders in airplane factories. Anything would be better than keeping our noses in dull, dead books while the country prepared for war and action.

And yet we are still here, and we are still studying the "dull, dead books." The reason is that in spite of the external irony of the situation we feel within us that a college education is worth having whether our country is at peace or war. We feel that Shakespeare, Victorian Poetry, Psychology, Ethics, and all the other courses we study are somehow a part of this thing we so glibly call the American way of life.

After all, war is not the American way. The United States has never been and never will be a militaristic nation. Now we are at war because we must defend ourselves. We must have tanks and ships and guns. The President has called for an astounding number of them, and there are thousands of men and women who are going to see to it that we have them. The boys have had to leave their education and their jobs to take up arms. They have their job, and they are doing it.

But we also have a job. It is not as obvious as these others, but it is just as real. It is our duty to preserve and further American culture, to prepare ourselves for leadership in a democracy at war. We have just completed a campaign to raise money to be sent to China in order that Chinese students may continue their education. China, a nation with its back against the wall, recognizes the need for young, educated leadership. How could we ever have considered throwing away our opportunity for the very thing that these Chinese students are begging!

When this war is over and we no longer need our planes, guns and tanks, when we turn back to this country that men have died to defend, we want to find more than rotting factories and rusting planes. And if we, and hundreds of other students, have done our job well, we shall.

We at Wesleyan recognize our responsibility. We hope we shall prove ourselves worthy of it.

"Relief to China" Fund a Success

Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, wrote this enthusiastic report of the results of our "Relief to China" campaign announced in recent issues of the alumnae magazine. In the light of recent international developments, we were particularly glad to have this expression of our sympathy and friendship to send to suffering China.

I am delighted to tell you that you have scored again! The portrait of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek is at Wesleyan and the amount sent for China Relief exceeded all our hopes. Our goal of $1,500 meant nothing to you, because Wesleyan alumnae are never satisfied just to "get by." Everyone who was called upon responded, not only willingly, but enthusiastically, and up to the present time we have sent over $2,150 to China. Clubs that we did not know were working have sent in splendid gifts; our most active clubs did not fail us. I wish that each of you could have had the experience that I have had in the past three months of daily inspiration from the interest and cooperation of our alumnae! I could not ask for more wonderful work than you have done on this project.

Mary Dudley (Fort) Colley was my co-chairman in this work, and she put in some most effective hours from her home in Grantville, writing innumerable personal letters and speaking about the plan.

I wish I could tell you how each club accomplished its part. The Elberton Club designated a Tag Day for China, and their gift amounted to more than $60.00. The members of the Macon Club under the leadership of their president, Marie (Adams) Timmerman deserve much credit for their work and I personally want to thank them for their successful campaign. The Atlanta Club has never failed to do everything I have asked; I am grateful to them and Eleanor (Atkinson) Stillwell. The large contributions of both of these clubs have helped us to go beyond our goal.

Atlanta and Macon newspapers gave us most generous publicity, and I have had reports of other news stories in papers all over the state. We are particularly indebted to Mr. William Cole Jones of the Atlanta Journal, to Mr. Ralph Jones, of the Atlanta Constitution, and to Mr. W. T. Anderson and Mr. Charles Bayne of the Macon Telegraph and News for editorials which have been directly responsible for gifts. I have received letters with contributions testifying to that fact.

We are acknowledging with great appreciation the kindness and help of the Directors of the High Museum in Atlanta, particularly Mr. Walter C. Hill, Mr. Herbert Oliver, and Mr. Lewis Skidmore in the exhibition of the portrait during the campaign. It was also exhibited in downtown Atlanta during National Art Week through the courtesy of the chairman of this exhibit, Mrs. Lloyd Hatcher. More than seven hundred people a day attended this exhibition and saw the portrait.

Mr. Beverly DuBose, through whose company the picture was insured during the campaign, made the gift of the insurance premium as his contribution to our project.

We have received some other interesting gifts from non-alumnae. A lovely lady, 72 years of age, made beautiful and authentic Chinese dolls and sent us a gift of $25.00 which she made from the sale of these. We have had a number of gifts from children and grandchildren of alumnae, and some from others who sent their gifts in memory of alumnae relatives. We received a contribution from the Alumnae Secretary of a sister college of the east, who saw the story in our Alumnae magazine.

Churches have not been asked to help, but some have heard of our project and have sent gifts. The Missionary Society of Cherokee Heights Methodist Church in Macon sent one of the first contributions. The Junior and Primary Departments of Grace Church in Atlanta, under the direction of Bessie (Tappan) Farris, sent us their Thanksgiving offering.

I want you to see the lovely portrait. I have asked Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, Chairman of the Art Committee at Wesleyan, her Committee, and the following additional members: Alleen (Poer) Hinton, Marie (Adams) Timmerman, Edith (Culpepper) Turpin, and Linda (Anderson) Lane, to decide where we shall hang the picture after it is dedicated at Commencement this year.

I want to thank you all again for the wonderful success of this project. It really was a "two-fold" opportunity (to quote from the effective editorial of Mr.

William Cole Jones). I feel that we have honored our most distinguished alumnae, the Soong sisters, in a way that they would want to be honored—by relieving some of the suffering in their country. And we have a portrait at Wesleyan that we can all be proud of. I hope you feel as I do; that the work has been entirely worth our time and efforts.

From Elmira College

During the "Relief to China" drive, the following letter arrived at Wesleyan:

"I have just received the Wesleyan Alumnae for November and have read with keen interest the appeal for Chinese Relief and the statement that the beautiful portrait of May-ling Soong Chiang, pictured in the magazine, will be sent to Wesleyan when the alumnae gift to China Relief reached $1,500.

"Although I am not a Wesleyan alumna I trust that I may be permitted, as an alumna of a sister college and as an admirer of May-ling Soong Chiang and her people to share in Wesleyan's China Relief Fund, for which I enclose a modest contribution with best wishes for the success of your undertaking.

"Sincerely yours,

Ernestine H. French,
Alumnae Secretary,
Elmira College,
Elmira, N. Y."

Dr. Chenery Gives Surgical Kit to China

Wesleyan friends of Marion (Luse) Chenery (who was one of the contributors to the Wesleyan fund for Relief to China) were interested to read the following story in The Boston Herald of her husband's gift to China:

China's hospitality to a noted Boston doctor and his wife on their three visits there won for this war-torn nation the surgical tools with which this now-retired surgeon became famous.

Dr. William E. Chenery, widely-known nose and throat specialist, trustee of Boston University and professor emeritus of Tufts College, revealed yesterday that his surgical equipment, collected during half a century in medicine, would be shipped to China within a week.

A dean of Boston's medical profession, Dr. Chenery was honored in China by scores on testimonials, including a banquet given by the mayor of Shanghai. The doctor's Commonwealth Avenue residence, whose walls and mantels abound in relics of Chinese handiwork, reflects his self-proclaimed admiration for the Chinese.

Millen Club Has Wesleyan Speaker

The Wesleyan alumnae of Millen, Ga. did a unique thing in January when they joined with the local Parent-Teacher Association in sponsoring a program featuring a Wesleyan speaker.

Annabel Horn, Dean of Wesleyan Conservatory, was guest speaker at the community house in Millen on January 6, talking on "Trends in Women's Education Today." Charlotte (Tyus) Dekle, president of the Millen Club, entertained Annabel Horn with a luncheon at her home before the meeting, having as guests to meet Miss Horn the following Wesleyan alumnae: Blanche (Parker) Johnson, Emmie (Harris) Chandler, and Eloise (Humphrey) Daniel.

In addition to Miss Horn's speech, the program included a reading by Martha Ramsey, Conservatory '40, a vocal solo by Mrs. Rudolph Parker, and violin selection by Kate (Drake) Frye.

After the meeting, the cafeteria committee of the P.-T. A. and the Wesleyan Alumnae Club were hostesses for a social hour. The seniors of the Millen High School and their mothers were invited to meet Miss Horn.

Covington - Oxford - Porterdale Alumnae Hold Meeting

The Wesleyan alumnae of Covington, Oxford, and Porterdale met December 1 at the home of Lucy (Mobley) Moore.

Mrs. R. M. Paty of Porterdale spoke to the group on the conditions existing in China today, and a check for China Relief was sent to Sue (Tanner) McKenzie by the club.

Mary Nell (Wiley) Strozier was elected president of the club, succeeding Mary (Banks) Morcock, and other officers elected were vice-president, Mary (Banks) Morcock; and Secretary, Ruth Little.

After the program and business session, the group enjoyed a social hour at which time refreshments were served by the hostess.

Fifteen members of the club were present, in addition to several honor guests, including: Mrs. Florrie Cook White, formerly head of the infirmary at Wesleyan, her sister, Margaret Cook of the class of 1888, and Mrs. H. W. Pittman of Porterdale.

Helena Eastman Ogden Campbell

HELENA E. OGDEN CAMPBELL

A notice in the New York Herald Tribune recently announced an exhibition at the Barbizon Hotel of paintings by Helena E. Ogden Campbell. Among these was to be her portrait of Dr. Clark Wissler, Dean of the Scientific Staff of the American Museum of Natural History.

This announcement was of especial interest to Wesleyan. The artist, who is today one of the outstanding portrait painters in New York, is the alumna who is responsible for assembling at Wesleyan the unique collection of paintings and pieces of sculpture by contemporary artists, every one the gift of the artist or of some friend or relative of the artist. Dr. Wissler, the subject of the portrait, came to Macon to examine the Indian mounds at Ocmulgee National Monument. He is Professor Emeritus of Anthropology at Yale University, past Chairman of the National Research Council, Fellow of the Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland, and author of many books, including "The American Indian," and "Man and Culture."

This portrait, recently on exhibit at the "Portrait Painters' Clearinghouse," is typical of Mrs. Campbell's excellent workmanship. She prefers to paint men and women of character and achievement. This is not surprising, for she has the ability to put on canvas those subtle qualities of strength and intelligence which some faces have. In the halls of Columbia University hang ten of her portraits of professors, and in galleries and private collections are many Campbell portraits of educational, cultural, and ecclesiastical leaders.

Helena E. Ogden Campbell is listed in "Who's Who in Art," "Who's Who in

Portrait of

DR. CLARK WISSLER

By Helena Ogden Campbell

New York," "American Women," "Leading Women of America" and "Women of Achievement." She has exhibited with: the National Academy, Allied Artists of America, New York Water Color Club, American Water Color Society, National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, Southern States Art League, Studio Guild and many others.

She frequently conducts classes in art in New York. She is herself a pupil of Robert Henri and William M. Chase in New York, and Lucien Simon and others in Paris. With her, theory has become experience, and this is passed on to her students in clear, helpful criticism.

The Art Collection at Wesleyan

Often visitors to the collection of almost a hundred paintings and pieces of sculpture at Wesleyan, assembled by Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell as gifts from many artists, exclaim in surprise,

"How on earth does she find the time to do it?"

We cannot tell you, for we have often wondered ourselves. All we know is that from time to time, throughout the past eight years, we have received letters from Mrs. Campbell announcing enthusiastically, "A box of paintings is leaving Budworth's today for Wesleyan," or "A very prominent artist has just written me that as soon as he returns to his studio from a summer vacation, he will select a painting to send to the collection."

It is as simple as that, apparently. But back of it all, you may be sure, is Mrs. Campbell's reputation among artists as a person of discrimination and good taste. One and another of the artists have expressed the feeling like this, "I am glad to send a painting for the collection. I feel that it will be in good company."

All through the years this project of a collection for her Alma Mater has been in her mind, never forgotten even in the midst of many other duties. In her quiet and gracious way she has told various friends and acquaintances in the art world about her plan, and about her college where hundreds of eager young students have come to appreciate the whole world of art through their contact with the work of contemporary artists. And the result has been the valuable and beautiful collection at Wesleyan today.

Since her residence in New York, Mrs. Campbell has received constant news from Wesleyan through a college friendship with Edith (Stetson) Coleman, class secretary and trustee in Macon, whose sympathy and interest in the collection has given the necessary local help.

"With the world at war," Mrs. Campbell wrote recently, "I am glad to think of the pictures which have been sent to Wesleyan. Art should form one of the helps through days when there is so much ugliness in the world."

"Wesleyan Female College, to Mary S. Jones, Donated by Charles H. Solomon, Macon, Ga., June 14, 1882."

The Adelphean badge, sent to Wesleyan by Mary Tom (Ford) Walker of Canton, Ga., is among the oldest in the entire collection. Mary Tom Ford joined the Adelphean Society in 1872. The badge is one of the larger size, with the rounded, but not raised clasped hands and the words "Adelphean Society; We Live for Each Other" engraved on the front. Mary Tom Ford's name is on the back. Mrs. Walker is 83 years of age. Although her health is frail, she remembers vividly and with devotion her Alma Mater and her college friends. She was greatly interested in the account of the restoration of the old Adelphean Hall at Wesleyan Conservatory.

It is interesting that among the old programs in the Wesleyan Historical Collection is an Adelphean program in which Mary Ford took part, reading "Horace Greeley's Ride" by Mark Twain, and later representing "The Sower" in "Seed-time and Harvest."

The medal for voice, which was awarded to the late Leila Artope of the class of 1874, was given to Wesleyan by her niece, Leila (Artope) Gantt of the class of 1913. It has a laurel wreath, in the center of which is a harp touched by a woman's fingers, and "Vocal Music, 1891" engraved on it. Leila Artope's name is engraved on the back.

Leila Artope, a beloved resident of Macon all her life, died in July, 1940, at the age of 85. She lent her medal to Wesleyan during the Centennial year, and her niece and namesake, Leila (Artope) Gantt, felt that it would be her wish to have it in the Wesleyan collection.

Mr. W. D. Anderson's Brother Dies

Wesleyan deeply sympathizes with Mr. William D. Anderson, trustee, in the death of his brother, Robert Allen Anderson, former Georgian who rose to a place of prominence in the Cuban industrial scene, in Havana in February.

Mr. W. D. Anderson was with his brother at the time of his death, which followed five major operations since December 14. Mr. Robert Anderson was works manager of the American Steel Corporation of Cuba, served as president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Cuba and was for 20 years a director in the organization. He was a member of the Anglo-American Hospital Board of Directors.

Recent Additions to Historical Collection

Three interesting additions to the Historical Collection have come recently. These are a senior medal for English Composition, given by Mary (Jones) Anderson, A.B. 1882, and an Adelphean pin, given by Mary Tom (Ford) Walker, A.B. 1874, and a medal for vocal music awarded in 1891 to Leila Artope.

Mary (Jones) Anderson, Class Secretary of 1882, has already given her diploma to the historical collection, and also that of her mother, Mary Jane (Shields) Jones, A.B. 1855. The Composition Medal, which she sent to Wesleyan by her great-niece, Jo Banks McKay, a member of the freshman class, has a scroll hanging from a bar on which are the letters "W. F. C." The scroll has a raised laurel wreath and two raised quills on it. The words "English Composition, Senior Prize Medal" are engraved on the front, and on the back

Paintings Added to Wesleyan Collection

A delightful surprise came to Wesleyan during the Christmas holidays,—a gift of six lovely oil paintings from the artist, Sophie Marston Brannan of New York. These additions to Wesleyan's collection of paintings and pieces of sculpture by contemporary artists bring the collection to a total of 92 pieces.

Every title in the collection has come to Wesleyan as the gift of the artist or of some friend or relative of the artist. The collection was begun in 1934 by Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell, alumna of Wesleyan and artist with studios in New York, and every gift has come to Wesleyan through her influence.

The collection is in the Olive Swann Porter Building on the Rivoli campus, and friends of the college are invited to visit it at any time.

SOPHIE MARSTON BRANNAN

"Spring Blossoms"
"Blue Bowl and Flowers"
"Boat Harbor"
"Old Corn House"
"Mountain Cove"
"Seascape"

In December, 1941, Helena E. (Ogden) Campbell received a letter from a fellow-artist in San Francisco, California, stating:

"Some time ago you wrote of liking some of my paintings for the Wesleyan Art Collection. So I am writing to say that you may go to W. S. Budworth & Sons in New York and take as many as you wish. The time has come for me to give them to the Wesleyan Collection."

The lovely oil paintings of which she speaks, all of which have been in the National Academy of Design in New York, and in some of the best exhibitions in the country, arrived as a Christmas gift. Each painting is approximately 3½ feet by 4½ feet. Four of them came in the frames which the artist selected for them; the other two will be framed by the Wesleyan Alumnae Association before being hung with the collection.

Miss Brannan was born in California. She studied in San Francisco and in Paris, and holds membership in many national associations of artists. She received the McMillan Prize of the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1912, and honorable mention in the Connecticut Academy of Fine Arts. She is represented in many permanent collections, among them the National Academy of Design, the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington, the Art Institute of Chicago, and museums of fine arts in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Nebraska, Kansas, New York, and in Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro.

The artist like to paint boats and water, and in five of the six paintings she sent to Wesleyan there is some water, sometimes a small stream, sometimes a cozy harbor where little sail-boats lie at anchor at the foot of great mountains. In her "Spring Blossoms," a humble farm home is transformed by the glorious pink and white blossoms of peach and pear trees surrounding it. In "Old Corn House" a regal oak tree lends dignity to the tiny shack beneath it.

Things Are Happening at the Conservatory

By Annabel Horn, A.B. 1906, Dean of Wesleyan Conservatory

Do you remember the words of Daniel Chandler's speech of 1825 used as the theme of our Centennial pageant: "I see the smile of promise; I hear the voice of encouragement"?

These words might have been said a short time ago about Wesleyan Conservatory, for indeed the feeling of all who have worked through the dark days of the depression and the financial cloud over Wesleyan, and who see at last (to quote Chandler again) "the day-star of hope"!

Do you remember that you wanted to study music or art or dramatics at Wesleyan but found the extra fees too great or your course too heavy to include it? Your daughter will find extra fees at Rivoli abolished, with extra charges only for individual lessons in such strictly studio subjects as piano, voice or violin. Class work in the history of art, interior decoration, painting, and other branches of the fine arts may be a part of her regular work, and she may take the A.B. degree with a major in speech.

Do you remember how, during the recent years you hated to go back to the Conservatory and see the buildings needing repairs, the walls needing new plaster, and the woodwork unpainted? The fine group of artist-teachers who have been keeping the spirit of the Conservatory alive now have their faith rewarded. Thanks to a committee of the trustees headed by the capable and untiring Alleen (Poer) Hinton, the Conservatory is a different place, its fine old features restored, its new ones added to harmonize.

The entire first floor of Roberts Hall, or Annex, is now a delightful art center with attractive class rooms for painting, sculpture, fashion design, interior decoration, ceramics, and crafts. Here every week are held art exhibits from nationally known art galleries. Here are receptions for visiting artists, lectures, gala occasions sponsored by the Macon Art Club and the Conservatory. We are proud of our art faculty, their degrees, their personality, their ability, and especially proud of the ever growing number of students. We are even dreaming of a summer art colony.

The Georgia Building has turned into a dramatic center with its own little theatre. The Atlanta Club has redecorated two rooms, freshening the walls and woodwork, adding draperies and light fixtures. It has a completely equipped radio center. Here a student of speech or music may get the basic course in radio code that is given to men in the army and navy. Radio mechanics, radio broadcasting, and radio script writing are offered to speech majors.

Aptitude tests were given under the personal direction of radio experts at Camp Wheeler, and phonographic lesson records were made for us by army instructors. The oscillators, the earphones, the switch-board and sending keys look very businesslike. Extra charge? No, it is part of the regular speech course, and of defense work. That the instructors at the camp could make phonographic lesson records for us and that we in turn could make sets of records for them is due to the new recording machine that Mr. Porter has recently given the Conservatory. It is part of the new Porter Library of Church Music, which includes a library of records, recording machine for the cutting of records, music, the music typewriter, the printing machine and other equipment. All are unique for this section, and all given by Mr. James H. Porter.

Do you know that we have a school of kindergarten music and a junior orchestra? Do you know that Wesleyan Conservatory is also the Fine Arts Department of Mercer University and work done at the Conservatory is credited on the the A.B. degree at Mercer?

Do you know that clubs and individuals are planning to restore the old halls and rooms to the beauty of the early days of a century ago? Some other secrets will be revealed soon. Plan to come back on Dedication Day, May the 12th, and see for yourselves "the smile of promise"!

Judge John S. Candler Dies

JUDGE JOHN S. CANDLER

Judge John S. Candler, who gave to Wesleyan the beautiful library building on the Rivoli campus, died in Atlanta on December 9 at the age of 80. A group of Wesleyan officials attended the funeral services at Druid Hills Methodist Church in Atlanta to pay tribute to one of the most generous of Wesleyan's benefactors.

It has been said that the Candler Memorial Library, given in honor of Judge Candler's father and mother, is not only an unusually beautiful example of Georgian architecture, but a peculiarly workable building for a college library. It has been an inspiration to hundreds of students during the 13 years since it was completed, and by actual count has attracted over 1,000 visitors yearly.

A Family of Leaders

John Slaughter Candler was the last of a distinguished family of eight brothers and three sisters, the children of Samuel C. and Martha Beall Candler. One of the brothers, Warren Akin Candler, became president of Emory College and a bishop of the Methodist Church. Newspapers at the time of his death a few weeks ago spoke of him as "the giant of Southern Methodism." Another brother, Asa G. Candler, was founder of the Coca-Cola Company, one of the great sources of wealth in this part of the country during the past generation. The others were closely associated with the religious, educational, and commercial growth of the state and the South.

Whatever successes came to them, Judge Candler has repeatedly said, were due to the early training of their parents, whose dealings with their children were kind but firm. John, who was born in Carroll County during the first year of the Civil War, had the normal childhood of a country boy, attending the rural schools of the community. He never had any money which he did not earn.

Positions of Responsibility

In 1876 he entered Boys' High School in Atlanta, and graduated in 1877. He graduated from Emory in 1880, and while a student there joined the K. A. Fraternity, in which he kept up his interest all his life, serving at one time as Knight Commander, the highest executive office of the organization.

He taught for two years in the schools of DeKalb County; then studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1882. This same year, also, he was appointed lieutenant-colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of Governor Alexander H. Stephens.

When he was only 23 years old, the young man was appointed Solicitor General of the Stone Mountain Judicial Circuit, and his administration brought forth from those who watched it closely the statement that in his circuit the innocent were safe from molestation and the guilty certain of conviction.

In 1902 he was elected by the people of the state one of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Georgia, a position he held until 1906, when, warned that the exacting labors of the Supreme Bench would impair his health, he reentered private practice as senior partner of Candler, Thomson and Hirsch.

Military Record

John Slaughter Candler was Military Judge Advocate General of Georgia from 1885 to 1893; Colonel of the 5th Infantry, Georgia State Guard, 1893 to 1901; Colonel 3rd Georgia Volunteer Infantry, U. S. Army, Spanish-American War.

In his "Reminiscences of Famous Georgians," the historian Lucian Lamar Knight says of him: "The writer will remember how the whole of north Georgia felt a patriotic thrill when it was announced that John Candler was going to the front. He was crippled in both limbs, but he was not satisfied to be included among the stay-at-homes. 'I can ride as well as the next man,' he said. 'I can't run, of course, but I don't think Uncle Sam is looking for men who can run.'"

His Home and His Church

Judge Candler's first wife was Miss Lula Garnier of Jacksonville and the mother of his children, Major Asa Warren Candler, who died in 1929, and Mrs. Samuel Guy, herself distinguished in Atlanta's educational and religious life. Later he married Mrs. Florrie Georgia Anderson of Marietta. His third wife, the former Miss Martha Erwin, survives him.

The Judge was 21 years old when he became a member of the Board of Stewards of old Edgewood Methodist Church. While serving the Stone Mountain Circuit he was a member of the First Methodist Church of Decatur and a member of the Board. In 1890 the Edgewood church divided into the Epworth and Inman Park churches, and Judge Candler aided in the former church and served it as a steward for 19 years.

In 1909, having built the first home in the newly developed section, Druid Hills, he became a steward of the Druid Hills Methodist Church. On the 25th anniversary of his connection with this church, the Board of Stewards passed special resolutions commemorating his services.

The Candler Memorial Library

When Judge Candler, as a member of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan College, decided to give the library on the new campus in memory of his parents, he left the planning entirely to the architects and the library committee. Unlike many donors, he never insisted upon glorifying himself or his family at the expense of efficient working conditions. He will be remembered with affection and gratitude at Wesleyan where the library stands as a memorial to his father and mother, "dedicated to God and to Christian womanhood."

In the Service of Our Country

The last issue of the alumnae magazine (November, 1941) carried a request that alumnae send us the names of any members of their families now in active duty in some field of our country's service.

Below is some information gleaned since this request. It is not, of course, complete, for we know that many others have relatives in the army, navy, marines, and air corps. We expect to add to it in each issue of the magazine, so please send us any additions.

The addresses, too, are probably wrong in many cases. These are the last-known addresses on our files, and we all know how many sudden changes have taken place in recent days.

We have not attempted to include the hundreds of Wesleyan Alumnae who are doing volunteer defense work.

1879

Henrietta (Nisbet) King's son is Colonel Lord Page King, Washington, D. C.; her son-in-law, Colonel Randal T. Adams, Columbia, S. C. (husband of Mary King Adams, '22); her grandson-in-law, Lieutenant Warren DeKalb Duncan, reserve officer in the air corps.

The late Jeanne (Villepigue) Smith's son, Lieutenant-Commander Robert Hall Smith, Jr., is in command of a destroyer in the Pacific. He is a brother of Margaret (Smith) Ambler, '08, and of Ruth (Smith) Chestney, '16.

1882

Mamie (Willis) Battle's son is Captain Eugene Battle, commander of the S. S. Quinsey, in Pacific waters.

1885

Leila (Conner) Richardson's son-in-law is Brigadier General John H. Hester, now stationed at Camp Blanding, Florida.

1888

Ella (McAndrew) Burney's grandson,

Lieut. Elgin Burney Rittenberry, is with the Air Corps Training Detachment, stationed in Douglas, Ga.

1890

Mamie (Feagin) Harmon's son, George, is with the air corps, stationed at Berry Field, Nashville, Tenn.

1893

May (Kennedy) Hall's son, Ensign Campbell Hall, was aboard the U. S. S. California, under heavy fire in the Pacific.

1894

Nina (Fish) McClesky has two sons-in-law in the regular army, Brigadier-General Charles H. Gerhardt, Ft. Bliss, El Paso, Texas; and Colonel D. G. Richart, recently put in command of Ft. Oglethorpe in Georgia.

Lula (Johnson) Comer's son, Lieutenant Chester Johnson Comer, is stationed at Camp Wheeler.

1896

Margaret (Callaway) Axson's son is a lieutenant in the Army, stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Bessie (Copeland) Cowart's son, Clarence Heath, is a lieutenant-colonel in the Army.

1897

Rosa (Johnson) Ramsey's son-in-law, Lieutenant-Colonel Frank Farrell, is instructor at the field artillery school, Ft. Sill, Okla.

Bessie (Napier) Bonner's son, Emmett, is an ensign in the U. S. Navy, a graduate of Annapolis.

Nell (Griswold) Anderson's son, Peyton, Jr., is a naval officer, stationed at Charleston, S. C.

The late Eloise (Wilder) Dasher's son, Colonel Charles Dasher, is with the U. S. Army, now in Washington, D. C.

1898

Lucy (Evans) Stephens' son, Robert, is a lieutenant, stationed at Camp Croft, Spartanburg, S. C.

1900

Mary Lou (Baston) Carswell's son, W. P. Carswell, is stationed now at Gunter Field, Ala. He is brother of Lucile Carswell, '25.

1902

Matibel (Pope) Mitchell's son, William Pope, is with the Navy Air Corps, stationed in Jacksonville, Fla.

Glen (Watkins) Babcock's son, Henry T., Jr., is in the Medical Detachment U. S. Army, Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, Fla.

1904

Carrie (Wooten) Cooper's son, Warren, is an ensign in the U. S. Navy.

1906

Louie (Fenn) Woodward's son, Captain Lamar T. Woodward, was killed in an accident during army maneuvers in Louisiana in the fall.

Jennie (Riley) Crump's son, Joseph, is an ensign in the Naval Reserve, having recently graduated from the U. S. Naval Reserve School, engineering division.

1907

Caro (Twitty) Martin's son, Charles, is a lieutenant with the Coast Artillery Corps, Key West, Fla.

1908

Florine (Burdick) Davis' son, Ensign Wylie Davis, is on the U.S.S. Chicago, in Pacific waters.

Louise (Erminger) Harris' son, John B., Jr., is in the Naval Reserves, stationed now in New York.

1909

Charlie May Carter is director of the USO-YWCA office for Jacksonville, Fla.

Louise (Davis) Davison's son, William Hali Davison, is a lieutenant with the U. S. Naval Air Corps, now stationed in Pensacola, Fla., assigned to instruction duties. Another son, Jaquelin C. Davison, is a first classman at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, to be graduated in June, 1942, having completed four years' work in three.

Erwin (Pope) Branch's son, Henry, is with the Army Air Corps at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.

1910

Julia (Riley) Struby's son is an ensign with the U. S. Navy, stationed in Charleston, S. C.

Virginia (Willingham) Wood's husband is a lieutenant-colonel with the army medical corps, stationed in New Orleans, La.

1911

May (Forehand) Powell's son is with the U. S. Navy.

Mary (Hill) Brown's son, Corporal Preston Brown, was accidentally killed in January near Schnectady, N. Y., where he was stationed at Madison Barracks.

Gladys (Napier) Corbin's son is a lieutenant squadron commander with the U. S. Air Corps, in Albuquerque, N. Mex.

1912

Alice (Domingos) Evans' husband is lieutenant-colonel with the regular army, now in Washington, D. C., and their two sons are both lieutenants now in the army; Bill en route to the Pacific coast, and Jack at Camp Davis, N. C.

1913

Katharine Carnes' sister, Estelle Carnes, is in charge of the Guest House and Service Club at Camp Wheeler, Macon.

1915

Margaret (Akerman) Menard's son, Albert, Jr., is a lieutenant in the Army, stationed at the army transport base in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a grandson of Minnie (Edwards) Akerman of the class of 1889. Announcement was recently made of his engagement to Laura McManus, granddaughter of Mamie (Williams) McManus, who studied pipe organ at Wesleyan in 1928.

Frances (Holden) Morrison's son is an ensign in the U. S. Navy, at the Communication School, Norton Heights, Conn.

1916

Louise (Callaway) Cutler is in charge of the government Recreational Center in Macon.

1917

Kitty (Cater) Jones' son, Corporal Baxter Jones, who has been stationed in Mississippi, has recently been sent to an officers' training camp.

1919

Lucia (Chappell) Domingos' brother, Major C. J. Chappell, is leader of a dive bomber squadron in the Pacific.

1920

Sue Ellen (Morton) Boyette's brother, Oliver, is with the army, stationed at Ft. Knox, Alabama.

1922

Helen (Owen) Forrester's husband is an engineer at the Naval Air Base near Melbourne Beach, Fla.

1924

Margaret (Vincent) Smith's husband is a captain in the Navy, stationed now in Hawaii. Margaret's mother is Lula (Fulghum) Vincent, A.B. '93, and her brother, Carter Vincent, is secretary of the American Embassy at Chungking, China.

1925

Rose (Nottingham) Proctor is secretary to the commanding officer of Camp Wheeler.

1926

Dorothy (Royal) Gower's husband is with the Medical Corps, Camp Grant, Ill.

1927

Lucile Barco has been for a little more than a year in the Army Nurse Corps. Stationed now at Camp Livingston, La.

1928

Agnes Anderson has an administrative position with the USO, having recently completed work for the M.A. degree at the University of Chicago.

Dorothy (Baker) Burghard is secretary to the commanding officer at a military camp near Baton Rouge, La.

1929

Lois (Holder) Hagan's husband is a first lieutenant in the Army.

1930

Agnes (Kelly) Hardwick's husband is Major James Carlton Hardwick, commanding officer of the Base Detachment at Drew Field, Tampa, Fla.

Julia (Lamar) Parish's husband is a lieutenant in the air corps. Julia and her children are in Norfolk, Va.; "Rags" is off to some unknown destination with his company.

1931

Margaret Hatcher is librarian at Camp Wheeler.

Hazel (Macon) Nixon's husband is a lieutenant, assistant base inspector at MacDill Field, Tampa. They have a daughter, Helen Victoria, born in November.

Rachel Mays is librarian at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Mary Margaret (Pritchard) Williams' husband is a sergeant, formerly stationed at Ft. Dix, N. J., recently designated for foreign service.

Elizabeth (Woodward) Bradley's husband is with the army medical corps, stationed at Fayetteville, N. C.

1932

Grace Goodman is with the local Draft Board office in Atlanta, Ga.

Elsie (Graham) Hudgins' husband is a lieutenant in the signal corps, now in foreign service.

Lelia (Jones) Horton's husband is an ensign in the U. S. Air Corps, stationed in Miami, Fla.

Fannie McGehee is one of the hostesses at the Guest House at Camp Wheeler.

Virginia (Townsend) Munford's husband is a lieutenant, assistant ordnance officer of the Third Air Force, Tampa, Fla.

Eleanor (Whitehead) Simms' brother, J. B. Whitehead, is flight instructor at the Air Corps Training Detachment in Douglas, Ga.

1933

Augusta Lawson is secretary of the Draft Board in Tennille, Ga.

1934

Betty (Hitch) Owens' husband is a lieutenant-colonel in the Medical Reserve Corps, stationed in Atlanta.

Mary (Quinn) Arnold's husband is in the U. S. Army, stationed in Trinidad, B. W. I.

Lora (Solomon) McCord's husband is a lieutenant in the army, stationed at Ft. Lee, Virginia.

1936

Emily (Boswell) Murphey's husband is a first lieutenant, stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga.

Marie (Haley) Warren's husband is a first lieutenant at Camp Davis, N. C.

Hilda (McCalman) Ireland's husband is with the Air Corps, stationed in Savannah.

Carolyn (Martin) Craft's husband is a lieutenant, now at the Post Graduate School, U. S. Naval Academy.

1937

Katherine (Alfriend) McNair's husband is in the army, stationed at Camp Wheeler.

Parky (Culpepper) Lee's husband is in the army, stationed at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Helen (Lasseter) Smith was recently married to Captain W. B. Yeager, Camp Wheeler.

Rose (Peagler) Porter's husband is a lieutenant, stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

Evelyn (Shell) Crowley's husband is a lieutenant in the anti-aircraft division of the Coast Artillery, stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga.

1938

Ted Acree was married on February 13 to Ensign Morgan S. Cantey, U. S. N. R., stationed in Atlanta.

Mildred (Scruggs) Andrews' husband is flight instructor at the Army Air School, Augusta.

Helen (Smith) Gillette's husband is a captain, stationed at Ft. Benning.

1939

Eugenia (Anderson) Ramsey's husband is a first lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, stationed in New York City. Lieut. Ramsey is a brother of Elizabeth (Ramsey) Foster, A.B. '34.

Frances (Campbell) Hughes' husband is a first lieutenant, stationed at Ft. Oglethorpe.

Elizabeth (Hodges) Garrett's husband is in the Army Air Corps, stationed in Montgomery, Ala.

Charlotte (Kelly) Gafford's husband is a lieutenant, stationed at Camp Davis, N. C.

Bascom (Knight) Zewadski's husband is a lieutenant, a flying instructor at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.

Addie Rie McKellar is working with the USO-YWCA office in Macon, Ga.

1940

Dale (Crawford) McCelvey's husband is with the army, at Ft. Brown, Texas.

Jane (Cook) Portt's husband is a lieutenant, stationed at Turner Field near Albany, Ga.

Sybil (Crow) Graesser's husband is a corporal in the U. S. Army.

Ruth (Moyer) Henderson's husband is a lieutenant at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Vivian (Parker) Dailey's husband is a sergeant in the Air Corps, stationed at Carlstrom Field, Tampa, Fla.

Edna Nell (Richards) Sams' husband is a lieutenant with the Marine Corps, on the west coast.

Ida Stephens is working in an office at the air base at Daniel Field, Augusta, Ga.

1941

Marion (Barrett) Furtick's husband is a lieutenant, now at Aiken, S. C.

Helen (Lovein) Jackson's husband is a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, stationed now in New Orleans, La.

Mary Bivins (Meyer) Wood's husband is a lieutenant, recently transferred from Camp Polk, La., to the Armored Force Radio Communication school at Ft. Knox.

1943

Mary Virginia (Gillem) Ewell's husband is a lieutenant in the 105th Parachute Battalion, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Yvonne Lee, a member of the sophomore class at Wesleyan, was married in December to Lieut. J. A. Thrash, Jr., now at Ft. Jackson, S. C.

1944

Frances Jordan, conservatory sophomore, was married to Lieut. William L. Hutcheson of the U. S. Air Corps on November 2.

Anne King, who was a student at the conservatory last year, is the daughter of Col. W. I. King of the medical corps of the U. S. Navy. The family have been in Honolulu, and word from Anne says, "We are all safe, including Father, who went through the bombing of Pearl Harbor."

WEDDINGS

Acree-Cantey

Elizabeth Acree, A.B. 1938, to Ensign Morgan S. Cantey of Ashburn, February 13.

Anderson-Ramsey

Eugenia Anderson, A.B. 1939, to Lieut. Bernard B. Ramsey of Macon and New York City, in January.

Batchelder-Fincher

Virginia Batchelder, 1938, to Carl B. Fincher of Douglasville during the Christmas holidays.

Boyd-Jones

Dorothy Boyd, 1942, to Roland L. Jones of Daytona Beach, Fla., December 1.

Clower-Moorman

Annie Frances Clower, A.B. 1935, to Dr. Guy Whitley Moorman in January.

Cook-Portt

Jane Cook, A.B. 1940, to Lieut. Glenn Portt of Turner Field, Albany, in January.

Crow-Graesser

Sybil Crow, Conservatory 1940, to Corporal Foster Graesser of New York City, October 18.

Daniel-Daniel

Annie Laura Daniel, A.B. 1927, to Robert Andrew Daniel of Leslie, December 30.

Dodge-Ferguson

Mary Evans (Rankin) Dodge, Conservatory '27, to James Edmund Ferguson of Clinton, S. C., January 8.

Elkins-Stratton

Martha Elkins, 1923, to James Francis Stratton of Washington, D. C., January 7.

Faulkner-Slaughter

Sue Faulkner, 1944, to James Edgar Slaughter II of Columbus, in January.

Goodell-Powell

Adelaide Goodell, 1940, to John Boling Powell III of Palm Beach, Fla., in the fall, 1941.

Hill-Yates

Stella Hill, 1930, to L. G. Yates of Atlanta, December 20.

Hobbs-Marsicano

Marion Hobbs, 1940, to Dr. Anthony Ralph Marsicano of Atlanta and Brooklyn, N. Y., December 25.

Ivey-Royer

Mary Jean Ivey, 1940, to Joseph Warren Royer of Atlanta in January.

Johnson-Burks

Louise Johnson, A.B. 1934, to William Green Burks of Chapel Hill, N. C., in December.

Johnson-Arrington

Roxie (Stevens) Johnson, 1924, to Henry B. Arrington of Ellaville, in November.

Jordan-Hutcheson

Frances Jordan, sophomore at the Conservatory, to Lieut. William L. Hutcheson of the U. S. Air Corps, November 2.

Kalmon-Dailey

Julia Kalmon, 1940, to Frederic Bowker Dailey of Boston, Mass., in November.

Kilpatrick-Head

Sarah Ann Kilpatrick, member of the sophomore class at the college, to Douglas Lamar Head, Jr., of Zebulon, medical student at the Augusta Medical College.

Knight-Zewadski

Bascom Knight, A.B. 1939, to Lieut. William Zewadski of Tampa, Fla., January 9.

Lee-Thrash

Yvonne Lee, a member of the junior class at Wesleyan, to Lieut. James Andrews Thrash, Jr., of Columbus, December 20.

Moyer-Willien

Margaret Moyer, 1940, to William Fleming Willien, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn., December 20.

Reeves-Edge

Margaret Reeves, 1920, to Arthur Brannon Edge of Atlanta, December 10.

Shell-Crowley

Evelyn Shell, A.B. 1937, to Lieut. William Vaughn Crowley, Jr., of Atlanta and Camp Stewart, Ga.

Smith-Yeager

Helen (Lasseter) Smith, Conservatory 1937, to Captain Walter Bernard Yeager of Camp Wheeler and Altoona, Penn., in December.

Staley-Hardin

Frances Staley, A.B. 1939, to Ralph Hardin of Atlanta, January 10.

Tarver-Gunnels

Rosemary Tarver, Conservatory, 1938, to Kelly Lanier Gunnels of Macon.

Thames-Waxelbaum

Frances Thames, Conservatory '35, to Dr. Gates J. Waxelbaum of Macon and Atlanta, December 28.

White-Galloway

Myrna White, 1939, to William Arnold Galloway of Gadsden, Ala., in December.

Wilkin-Sexton

Cappi Wilkin, 1933, to Richard Clayton Sexton of Danielsville and Bainbridge.

IN MEMORIAM

Sarah (Robertson) Strozier, A. B. 1863

Fannie (Gilmer) Dessau, A. B. 1878

Mattie Glenn (Tigner) Boddie, A. B. 1883

Dellie (Freeman) Young, A. B. 1885

Emy (Norris) Hall, A. B. 1886

Blanche Middlebrooks, 1893

Eloise (Wilder) Dasher, 1897

FROM DR. IRIS L. WHITMAN

Dear Wesleyan Girls of Past Years:

Just a line to thank you for your sweet remembrance of me at Christmas. Your cards, pictures of husbands and babies gave me much pleasure.

I send you my love and very best wishes for 1942.

Sincerely yours,
IRIS L. WHITMAN.

FROM MRS. FLORRIE C. WHITE

To My Wesleyan Girls Far and Near
Who Were Thoughtful of Me During the Holiday Season:

The cards with messages of love, cheer and good wishes made my Christmas bright and gave me the true Christmas spirit which I hope to keep all the year. The pictures of your children are especially prized. I just cannot lose my love and interest in Wesleyan, and now the greatest pleasure I have is in sweet memories which are dear to my heart.

I am proud of my girls who are filling positions of trust and responsibility.

With a heart full of love and with hopes that the efforts and service of you girls in this time of the world's upset may be blest of our Heavenly Father.

Affectionately,
Your "MRS. WHITE".

CLASS NOTES

The editor wishes to express appreciation to the following alumnae who helped get up the class notes for this issue:

Frances (Yates) Chewning
Rosa Belle (Ward) Daniel
Inez (McLarty) Dorris
Ruth (Dunkin) Gellerstedt
Lurline (Cannon) Hazen
Susie Mae (Greer) Hollis
Claudia (Hodges) McKinnon
Clara (Jackson) Martin
Sarah (Additon) Morris
Mary (Felton) Paulk
Mary Pope (Watson) Turk
Alice (Taylor) Walker
Effie (Shearouse) Watkins

1863

Sarah (Robertson) Strozier of Cordele, oldest graduate of Wesleyan, died January 19 at the age of 96. She was a native of Greenville, Ga. She kept in touch with her Alma Mater, and as recently as June of 1941 she sent the Alumnae Office a picture of her class as college girls. She was the mother of Judge E. F. Strozier of Cordele, with whom she made her home, and of Mrs. S. D. Ravennell of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. F. J. Bivins of Moultrie.

1874

A message of love for Wesleyan came recently from Mary (Ford) Walker of Canton, Ga., whose address is now c/o Coker Hospital, Canton. She is among Wesleyan's oldest alumnae.

1878

Madge Bigham of Atlanta, a sister of the late Eugenia Davies Bigham of the class of 1878, sent in the following biographical sketch of her:

"Eugenia Davies Bigham was a senior at Wesleyan in 1878, and because of illness, had to come home before graduation. Later she graduated at Lucy Cobb Institute, Miss Mildred Rutherford, a cousin, being principal.

"After graduation she taught in many high schools in Georgia and in the state school at Milledgeville. However, through inheritance, her real talent lay in the literary field and she became a gifted writer for children, specializing in stories for adolescent girls and boys.

"She always taught a Sunday School class of boys, and after the lesson was finished would tell them stories of her own, stories later put into her serial 'About Boys for Boys.' There was always a boy hero, whose qualities of truth and honor were exhibited in sports and social life, and through these stories she instilled high principles in her pupils.

"More than anything else in the world she loved to tell stories. She even told them to very old people, and through her stories shut-ins had a vicarious life of color and youth. To children she told about cats, dogs, pigs, chickens, cows, and other animals. If the child were ill and fretful her 'Once upon a time' always made him forget his troubles. She never reached the end of a story without hearing 'Tell it again!' that best test of a good story teller. My twin sister and I, younger than Eugenia, followed her around like two small chickens with a mother hen, and she was a most generous and long-suffering big sister.

"In the years that followed her stories appeared in many papers and magazines, Boys' Life, Girls' Life, Christian Register, Youth's Companion, our Wesleyan Christian Advocate, and also appeared in book form, among them 'Red Iron,' a story of mystery and adventure; 'The

Up and Down Shoes,' a fairy tale in which the boy owner visits other countries in his magical shoes; and 'In League with the Powerful,' a prize-winning story with its setting in the time when Christ was on earth. Eugenia Bigham died Dec. 10, 1928."

1882

Mary (Jones) Anderson writes: "I fully expected to come to Wesleyan during my recent visit to Macon, but just after my arrival my brother, Frederick Reese Jones, died in Atlanta and was brought to Macon to rest among his own and his wife's family who have gone before. His wife is Clare (Boifeuillet) Jones, '04, daughter of Clara (Nutting) Boifeuillet, '79. I always try to get in touch with the other two 'Jones girls' of the class of 1882 who represented our class on its fiftieth anniversary.

"A pleasant announcement I have to make is of the arrival of Nancy Carleton Chapman in Boston, November 18. She is the grandchild of John and Mary Chapman, and my first great-grandchild. The father, Carleton Burke Chapman, is now serving his internship at the Boston City Hospital, having studied three years at Oxford, England, and last July graduated in medicine from Harvard. He has been elected to a responsible position in the hospital. His mother has recently been to Boston to visit her granddaughter and my great-granddaughter and namesake.

"My old friend and classmate, Mamie (Willis) Battle, is still carrying on with courage and is an inspiration to the mothers in the city. Her son, Captain Eugene Battle, commander of his ship the Quinsey, wrote her some weeks ago that he was off for a long journey, secret destination. How many mothers and grandmothers will have the same suspense to bear for some time to come!"

1883

Dorothy (Blount) Lamar is Co-Chief of Voluntary Participation in Defense Work in Macon, and is giving her time and genius for organization to this work.

For information sent in by Kate Neal, A.B. '86, a cousin, and Cornelia (Smith) Holtzclaw, B.M. '84, this tribute to Mattie Glenn (Tigner) Boddie was written:

Mattie Glenn (Tigner) Boddie

Mattie Glenn (Tigner) Boddie of Chipley, Ga., died October 31.

She was next oldest of the children of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tigner of White Sulphur Springs, Meriwether County, Georgia. Her brothers and sisters were: Frank, George, Ed, Hope, Carrie, and July. They were a lovely and happy family, in which Mattie Glenn was outstanding.

At Wesleyan Mattie Glenn and Cornelia Smith were "brag" pupils of Miss Mollie Mason in Art, and both won medals in art, Mattie Glenn winning both drawing and painting medals. They had a picture made wearing these medals.

Mattie Glenn looked after the household for her mother, who was not strong, and as soon as she left Wesleyan took entire charge of her young sisters, about ten and twelve years of age. Later she nursed her mother through serious and distressing illnesses, always considering the family above herself in every way.

Her husband was Dr. N. V. Boddie, who died some years ago. She continued to be "mother" to her sisters, both several years younger than herself and in bad health. She is survived by them and by one brother, Dr. Ed Tigner of Milledgeville.

She kept up her interest in painting throughout her life, and friends have a number of evidences of her talent.

In the November issue of the magazine there was announcement of the gift of a diploma to the Wesleyan Historical Collection by Dr. E. A. Tigner of Milledgeville. This diploma was awarded to Martha Stimson, later the mother of Dr. Tigner and Mattie Glenn Tigner. Martha's sister, Catharine M. Stimson, was a Wesleyan graduate of 1852, the mother of M. Katharine Neal, A.B. 1886.

1885

Marion (Luse) Chenery and her husband, Dr. William E. Chenery, are in Tucson, Arizona, for the winter.

1886

The Alumnae editor was delighted to hear recently from Kate Neal, the efficient Class Secretary of 1886. "I am sorry the class of 1886 had a black-out in the November magazine," she writes with characteristic humor, "but I have not been very well recently, and just about the time your card came about class notes my beloved cousin, Mattie Glenn (Tigner) Boddie died. Her father was my guardian and she was like a sister to me; her death was a great shock to me."

Mattie (O'Daniel) Smith of Macon has agreed to help Kate with the news notes for 1886, and we shall call them "Co-Secretaries" of 1886, one of the finest classes ever to graduate from any college!

Mert (Murphree) Haralson has been an invalid for two years, living in Troy, Ala. Her husband died several years ago, and she has an only son, James. Her hobbies are raising flowers and painting, and during recent years she has done much work in arts and crafts.

Alice Napier, '88, recently sent to the alumnae office a clipping from a Milledgeville paper, a tribute which she wrote to her friend, Emy (Norris) Hall who died November 27. The following paragraphs are taken from this article:

"Emy Norris was born in a Methodist parsonage, the daughter of the Rev. John Thomas Norris and Ella Reid deJarnette Norris. The father was a Christian gentleman of the old school, a scholar and a gifted speaker; the mother belonged to a cultured Putnam county family. She possessed a rare sense of humor and was a writer of no mean ability. Four children blessed their home, Marie deJarnette, Emy Lou, Maude and John T., Jr.

"To her governess Emy owed her love of Latin, in which she excelled at Wesleyan. After graduation from Wesleyan she spent a year in New York City where she received her business training. In the meantime her father, because of illness, found it necessary to retire from active ministry, and settled in Cartersville, Ga. Here their home was a beauty spot with its boxwood borders, flowering shrubs, perennials, and pansies. It was a hospitable home, to which came friends like Dr. Young J. Allen of China and Mrs. Alice Culler Cobb of Macon. Emy taught Latin in the Cartersville high school before coming to G. N. and I. C. (now the Georgia State College for Women) as head of its business department.

"Her happy marriage to Mr. Louis C. Hall, a Presbyterian Elder, came on November 6, 1901. She united at once with her husband's church. Their cup of joy was full when their three children came. No one who entered this home could forget its kindness, its consideration, its spiritual atmosphere.

"Mrs. Hall was the perfect mother, homemaker, friend, and Christian, ministering to the sick, the unfortunate, and the poor. She was a devoted member of the W.C.T.U. and of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church, and a marvelous Bible teacher.

"Illness came, and for almost four years she was an invalid. Through all the long months she was patient, courteous and appreciative, keeping to the last her rare sense of humor.

"She died just two weeks after the passing of her noble husband."

Mattie (O'Daniel) Smith has moved back to her home on Oak Haven Avenue in Macon after living on a plantation in Dry Branch, Ga., for several years.

1887

Mary (Curtiss) Nunn of Augusta sent a contribution to the Wesleyan Alumnae "Relief to China" Fund, saying, "I send this as a memorial to my beautiful young granddaughter, Helen Curtiss Elliott, who went from us to her Heavenly home on July 30, 1941." Mary is an active member of the Augusta Wesleyan Club of which Elaine (Goodson) Osteen, A.B. '38, is the efficient president.

A letter from Ida (Murray) DeLoach of Mulat, Florida, came to the Alumnae office recently. It recalled many incidents of her girlhood and Wesleyan days. She received a music medal in 1887, her teacher being Miss Post. She remembers well one occasion when Charlie Soong, the father of the three famous Soong sisters of China, visited in her home and preached in her church.

1888

Nannie (Carmichael) Beeland's son, Charles, "shot" the scenes at Okefenokee swamp for the movie "Swamp Water," and those at Fort Benning for "Parachute Battalion."

The class of 1888 will be distressed to learn of the death of Hattie (Connor) Stevens recently at Cave Springs, Ga. Her husband was formerly a Methodist minister.

A Rome, Georgia, friend writes of Addie and Estelle Mitchell of the class of '88: "Miss Estelle Mitchell is a tonic for everyone. She isn't well herself, but doesn't let that get her down. She said one of her Wesleyan friends expressed her own thoughts in her verse in the last magazine: 'From stem to stern I need repairs, like antique furniture, tables and chairs.' She also said Miss Addie finds time to look after her and a sick sister-in-law, and take in everything that happens in town as well. Our church, missionary society and other worthwhile organizations in Rome could not get along without Miss Addie and Miss Estelle."

1889

Julia (Henderson) Weedon lives in Troy, Ala., and has one daughter, Mildred, now Mrs. Roberts Blount of Tallahassee, Ala. Julia's husband, who was a major in the Medical Corps, Dixie Division, in the last World War, died in 1924.

The poetry journal, "Scimitar and Song," recently carried a picture of Anita (McClendon) Miller taken among the bluebonnets blooming on the grounds of her Texas home. The write-up which accompanies the picture says of Anita: "Her verse has appeared in all the leading little magazines, many general magazines of national circulation, and in numerous newspapers and anthologies. She has had a number of magazine articles in print about gardens and gardening, illustrated by photos which she took, and recently she has published articles on bird conservation."

1890

Bessie Anderson and her niece, Virginia Jelks, 1909, make their home together in Hawkinsville. During the Christmas holidays Virginia visited her brother, Dr. Albert Jelks, and his family in Macon, and Bessie and another niece, Katharine Carnes, '13, enjoyed a motor trip over Georgia and Florida.

1893

Blanche Middlebrooks, who died in Sparta in November, 1941, was a granddaughter of the late Bishop George Foster Pierce, first president of Wesleyan. Claude Middlebrooks, A.B. 1884, is still living in Sparta, Ga., where Bishop Pierce's old home was, and from her Wesleyan has received much valuable information about the family. One other sister and two brothers also survive.

1894

Mary Maude (Wilder) Trawick's daughter, Sarah Catherine, was married at her home in Spartanburg, S. C., December 26 to Dr. Herbert E. Vermillion of New York, research chemist with the Texaco Company. The bride is a granddaughter of Mary Louise (Holmes) Wilder of the class of 1864. The groom is a doctor of philosophy graduate of Duke University, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and was awarded the Angier B. Duke Memorial Fellowship, the highest award of the university.

1896

Margaret (Callaway) Axson of Savannah writes, in answer to a request in the November alumnae magazine, to tell of her son, Benjamin Palmer Axson, Jr., who is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army. "In June, 1940," she says, "he was married to Mary de Forrest Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stuart of Savannah and Thomasville. Both my son and daughter (Nell Axson), were married in the beautiful old Independent Presbyterian Church of Savannah where their great-grandfather, Dr. I. S. K. Axson, was pastor for 37 years."

Margaret Axson has been for 15 years historian of this church. It is a work she loves, an inherited love from her father, the late Col. James Callaway of Macon. The Independent has an interesting history. Organized in 1755, it suffered two great fires and one terrific storm, which destroyed many of the records. Margaret has had a large but engrossing task in finding and reassembling many records of long ago. Her daughter, Mrs. Donald F. Houser of Nashville, Tenn., has one son, Donald, Jr., not quite a year old.

Bessie (Copeland) Cowart of Troy, Ala., has a daughter, Mattie Lee, who lives with her. She has two sons, Clarence Heath, now a lieutenant-colonel in the U. S. Army, and Moss, a special insurance agent in Birmingham. Bessie's husband died in 1911. She has always been active in her church, holding local and conference offices. She is now Corresponding Secretary of the Alabama W.S.C.S.

Burney (Sheffield) Covington's husband is practicing law in Moultrie, and is the author of "The History of Colquitt County." Burney herself is interested in literature and fine arts.

1900

Claudia (Hodges) McKinnon returned to Georgia from Florida after the death of her husband, and lives now near Statesboro, where she is interested in church work, having served for several years as an officer of the Woman's Missionary Society. She takes care of her mother, whose health is frail.

Lula (Houser) Driskell of Sparta spent some time in the fall in Larchmont, N. Y. with her daughter, Mary, who has a young son, Marion W. Smith, Jr.

1902

Glen (Watkins) Babcock of Troy, Ala., has two children. Her son, Henry T., Jr., is in the Medical Detachment at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, Fla. Her daughter, Sara Miller Bradley, recently married Leland Jones and now lives in Montgomery, Ala.

1903

Margaret (Rhodes) Buxton makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Gill of Moultrie, mother of Elizabeth (Gill) Blacklock, '29. She works for the Productive Credit Association. She is a proud grandmother, her daughter Mary Buxton Burns of Indiana having a little girl.

1904

Blanche (Burch) Harp, her son, Bill, and her youngest daughter, Ruth, live in Inman. Blanche's husband died several years ago of a heart attack. Two other sons and two daughters are married, and Blanche has five grandchildren. She has been president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service since it was organized, until this year when her daughter-in-law was made president. She knits and sews for the Red Cross, and grows lovely flowers, particularly roses and dahlias.

Among the visitors to Wesleyan in the fall was Mary Louie (Davis) Lacy of 102 Barilla St., San Antonio, Texas, who had flown from Texas to Georgia to visit a friend, and made a special trip to Wesleyan. She brought news of her twin sister, Jewel (Davis) Scarborough, who graduated in the class of 1904, and who lives now in Abilene, Texas, where her husband is a lawyer. Jewel has two sons, Davis Dallas Scarborough, who is a graduate of the University of Texas, and is now practicing law with his father; and Charles Lawrence Scarborough, still in college.

Mary Louie's children are Patty Louie, now married; and Waltus Hoyt Lacy, Jr., who is in college. She was particularly interested in seeing, in the old Matriculation Book at Wesleyan, the signature of her mother, who was Mattie Alice Lockett of the class of 1877. It was because of their mother's love for Wesleyan that the twins were sent all the way to Georgia from Texas to college.

Mary Alma (Hicks) Lee enjoys gardening, sewing, cooking, and is active in church work in Moultrie. Her daughter, Lenelle (Lee) Maxwell, Cons. '31, of Greenville, S. C., has a little son, Erle Maxwell, Jr., two years old.

1905

Sympathy is extended to Minnie (Akin) Harrell in the death of her husband last year. She is making her home now with her sister, Agnes (Akin) Atkinson in Altadena, California. Her daughter, Lawrence, was married during the fall to Dr. Funkhouser of Atlanta.

Laurie (Wynn) Garner and her husband, now living in Odum, spent Christmas in Jacksonville with their son, Bobby, and his family, including John R. III now three months old. Bobby has a splendid Government job as Junior Field Examiner. Laurie's daughter, Henrietta, is working with Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington.

1907

Ella Clare McKellar is at Boston University this winter, where she is working upon a book that she is preparing for publication.

Sympathy is extended to Alice (Taylor) Walker of Cochran, whose husband died in September, 1941.

1908

Helen (Henderson) Folmar, who died in 1936, is survived by her husband and two daughters, Annie, who is now Mrs. J. D. Colley of Troy, Ala., and Mary, a student at Gulf Park College in Mississippi.

The Cochran, Georgia Methodist Church has a unique choir in which all the women are alumnae of Wesleyan: Annie (Winn) Bailey and her daughter, Katherine (Bailey) Frazer, Conservatory '37; Florence (Crum) Daniel, '38; and Arrie (Horton) Fisher, Conservatory '28.

Rosa Belle (Ward) Daniel's husband is in insurance business in Tennille. They have two grown children, both away from home now. A daughter, Mrs. Robert Flanagan of Baxley, has a daughter, Gwendolyn, who plans to enter Wesleyan in 1943. The son, Henry, has a position with the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

1909

Nonie (Acree) Quillian wrote in December of the busy life that she and Dr. Quillian have in New York. "Life grows more interesting up here all the time, but it quickly uses up one's time; every hour of every day and into the nights are more than full. We are having tea at the Barbizon Hotel on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Ogden Campbell and seeing an Exhibition of her recent Portraits and Flower Paintings. We always enjoy her.

"Yesterday afternoon we had a big tea at 150 Fifth Avenue showing the Church's lovely new building. The Educational Department is on the fifth floor and each floor had its individual reception plan. Bishop Moore is here now meeting with the Board of Missions, and will preach Sunday.

"We will spend Christmas with Christine at Huntingdon, and will see brother and Margaret at Gettysburg on our way south; they go to the Weigles at Yale for the holidays. We will be back in New York early in January."

1910

Susie Mae (Greer) Hollis is pianist of her church in Buena Vista, Ga., and spends a great deal of her time now in Red Cross work. Her husband is a farmer, and she has two step-sons both grown, and one married and living in Buena Vista.

Estelle (Lee) Crumley is active in church work in Brooklet, Ga., where her husband is a prominent planter and merchant. They have one married daughter, Mrs. Glenn Harper of Waycross; one daughter in college at Statesboro, Emily; and one son, John, at the University of Georgia.

Kate (Murphree) Copeland is active in church and U.D.C. work in Troy, Ala. She has been Recording Secretary and first Vice-President of the Alabama Division of the U.D.C. Her only son, Charlie, Jr., lives in Washington, D. C.

Ruth Parrish taught music for several years after her graduation at Wesleyan. She is now postmaster at Brooklet, Ga. She has been pianist for her church for many years.

1911

Susie Hodges lives near Statesboro, Ga., and is active in church work. She devotes much of her time to her mother, with whom she lives.

1912

Sadie Burch has been postmaster at Woolsey, Ga., for three and a half years, and finds her work very interesting. She has much extra work now selling defense stamps, and she is knitting and sewing for the Red Cross, too. She still lives in the old home place with a younger sister, whose health is not good, and who recently had to spend several months in the hospital.

Most active in defense work in Macon is Alleen (Poer) Hinton, who has charge of arranging for all training in First Aid in the county, an exacting task just now when volunteers by the thousands are taking courses in first aid.

Effie (Shearouse) Watkins is active in church, club and school work in Brooklet, Ga., where her husband is a prominent physician. They have two children, a son, Emory, who is studying embalming; and a daughter, Jane, a senior in high school and planning to enter Wesleyan next fall.

1913

Anna Bell (Conner) Whelchel's husband is a prominent attorney in Moultrie. They have two sons, Hoyt, Jr., and James.

Annie (Gantt) Anderson has been busy with the beautiful wedding of her daughter, Eugenia '39, to Lt. Bernard Ramsey at Mulberry Church in January with Bishop W. N. Ainsworth officiating and Fannie (Singleton) Ogden at the organ. Cornelia (Adams) Heath with her husband and her daughter Eva of Columbia, S. C., and Lelia (Artope) Gantt, wife of Austin Gantt, were members of our class who were among the out-of-town guests; as were Evelyn (Wright) Banks, '14, from Newnan and Nelia (Damour) Watt, '14, of Thomasville, who attended with her mother, Laura (Jones) Damour, '82; Elizabeth (McMaster) Carswell, '16 and her mother, Rosa (Moore) McMaster, '93 of Waynesboro.

Annie's daughter Mary, '43, was maid-of-honor, and her youngest daughter, Annie, was a bridesmaid; Cora Gantt Little, daughter of Mary Lou (Ansley) Gantt, was matron-of-honor.

Among Annie's Wesleyan friends entertaining in honor of Eugenia were Polly (Pierce) Corn, Marie (Adams) Timmerman and her alumna daughter Evelyn (Timmerman) Fairbanks, Helen (Cater) Farmer, Kitty (Cater) Jones, Belle (Ross) Valentine, Lena May (Williams) McCowen, Martha (Riley) Holiday and Catherine Williams.

Ella Bess (McMichael) Schmeisser of Memphis, Tenn., visited friends in Macon in December and was honored by parties given by her Wesleyan friends.

Emmie (Williams) Hodges is active in church and club work. She assisted in establishing a public library for Bulloch County at Statesboro, and has since served as chairman of the Board. Her husband is a county official with offices in Statesboro. They have two daughters and one son.

1914

Buford (Lewis) Trimble's husband is an osteopath in Moultrie, Ga. They have four children and two grandchildren. Buford's hobby is gardening.

Anne (Marchman) Malone and her family have left Havana and come back to America to live. They have been in Villa Rica with her family, but have recently taken up residence in New York.

1915

Nell (Aldred) Snavelly spent a weekend in Macon and had lunch at the college. Her husband is still teaching economics at the University of Virginia, and their one son, Bill, having received his Bachelor's Degree there, is now doing graduate work at Harvard, specializing in economics also and waiting to be taken into the service. This has been temporarily delayed on account of his eyes. Nell writes, "I enjoyed the opportunity of having lunch at the college and meeting some of the new people, with whom I was pleasantly impressed."

Henrietta (Robertson) Parrish married a druggist of Brooklet, Ga. They have one son, Grady, a senior at the University of Georgia; and three daughters, Doris, a junior at the teachers' college in Statesboro; Betty, in the seventh grade; and Ellen in the fifth grade.

Ernestine (Theis) Smith is instructor of music in the Tennille High School, president of the Woman's Club, and now chairman of First Aid in Tennille for the Red Cross.

Bernice (Wright) Wright is the mother of four children. Harriet Wright, A.B. '37, is a popular teacher in the Moultrie High School, which is getting national recognition recently. Robert, Jr., is in the Ford business with his father. Twin boys, Gene and Jerry, are outstanding in high school. Bernice has a beautiful home and garden.

1916

Nella Braddy's latest book, published by Julian Messner, Inc., is titled, "Rudyard Kipling, Son of Empire," and is described by reviews as "a brilliant piece of writing."

1917

Among recent visitors to Wesleyan were Ella (Touchstone) Williams of Griffin and her daughter and only child, Mary Jim Williams, who is a prospective student of Wesleyan.

1918

Julia (Franklin) Roitsch lives in the old family home of the Franklins in Tennille with a brother, Graham Franklin. Her hobby is painting.

1919

Josephine (King) Ayers of 2827 Frankfort St., El Paso, Texas, writes:

"The Alumnae magazine has meant so much to me since I have been living in Texas and I appreciate it so much. It has been like a letter from home since I moved to Texas nine years ago and through it I have kept up with many of my former classmates and friends.

"My husband, our eleven-year-old daughter, Jennie Gray, and I have enjoyed living in the west. The climate is wonderful, and next to Georgia Texas has the friendliest people in the world. As we are next door neighbors to old Mexico, we find lots of color and excitement along the border. Jennie Gray and I both hope that she can enter Wesleyan when she is ready for college.

"How I would love to go back to Macon again and visit Wesleyan and other familiar haunts. My friend and former room-mate, Ruth (Benton) Persons and my first cousin, Jean (Oliphant) Rentz, write occasionally and tell me the news. How I'd love to see them and their children!"

Arlin (Morris) King of Rome has a daughter, Ladre, eleven years old. Arlin plays for the Glee Club of Cooper Hall, a private school for girls, and did much Red Cross work during the past year.

Mary Pope (Watson) Turk writes: "I am teaching, attending P.-T.A. meetings, going to church, helping out in Sunday School by being a group leader and teaching in the Junior Department when they need me. For years I was a regular teacher in the department, but my parents are getting old and feeble and I spend quite a few Sundays with them. My son is a freshman in high school, and we have such good times together. My husband is an accountant connected with Harbin Hospital. He and I have registered for Defense work in any capacity.

"It would not seem right for my friends to see my name without that of my 'other half,' Lucille Ham. I am happy to say that we still love each other. She lives in Knoxville (Mrs. C. H. George), and we visit each other from time to time. One of my happiest moments at Christmas is when that never-failed-yet card comes from Ham."

1920

Ruth Diggs is now teaching at Colegio Buena Vista in Havana, Cuba, having been transferred there from Carolina Institute in Seoul, Korea.

Ruth (Dunkin) Gellerstedt is interested in her club and church in Troy, Ala. She has two children, Robert, Jr., 16; and Jeanne, 13, who is planning to come to Wesleyan for college work and the study of violin.

Ellamae (Ellis) League's daughter, Jean, is a graduate student at Smith College.

Sue Maxwell received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Yale University in 1941, the title of her dissertation being, "Shakerly Marmion."

Margaret McKenney is now Mrs. Henry Cavendish of 552 W. 114th St., New York, N. Y. She was married on September 27, 1941. Her husband is in newspaper work.

Margaret (Reeves) Edge's husband is with the Detroit Graphite Company, with headquarters in Atlanta, and their address is 547 Linwood Ave., N.E. Margaret has studied at Duke University since leaving Wesleyan, and has traveled extensively in this country and abroad.

1921

Among recent guests at Wesleyan was Mary (Graves) Monteith, who is director of educational work for Rand, McNally in the Southern Section. She has an apartment in Nashville where her sister, Abigail (Graves) Randolph, '23, also lives. She travels all over several states in her work, and says she recently saw Clyde Smith in Raleigh, N. C.

1922

Carolyn (Crittenden) Clements has a lovely home in Buena Vista, Ga., and two attractive children, Horace, Jr., 14; and Mary Ann, 10. Her husband is county superintendent of schools.

Mary Julia (Daniel) Gilbert is a widow living in Tennille. She has two sons, Roy, a druggist, and William, in school at Dahlonega. Sympathy is extended to Mary Julia in the death of her father, Mr. William Daniel, on January 14.

Inez (McLarty) Dorris lives in Douglasville. She says that her home, her two sons, John, aged 11 and Mac, aged 6, and the activities of a small town keep her busy.

Mary Kate (Williams) Rickerson lives now in Wilmington, Delaware. She has one son, Howell.

Lois (Bobo) Bryan lives in Brooklet, Ga., where she is active in church, social and community life. Her husband has farm and naval store interests in Brooklet. Their five children are: James and Thomas, who have positions with the Central of Georgia Railroad; Bobo, in the eighth grade; Jack in the fourth; and Jill in the second grade.

Winnifred Rogers completed work for the M.A. degree at the University of Georgia in 1938. She is teaching now in the Greenville, S. C., Senior High School.

1924

Katherine Finch is now Mrs. Sidney Edmondson of 1810 Highland Ave., Shreveport, La. She has three sons.

Kate (Harrell) Chiles lives in Rock Hill, S. C. She has two fine boys. Her hobby is gardening.

Elizabeth (McCrary) Guy lives in Buena Vista, where she takes a prominent part in social and civic activities.

Jennie May (Mobley) Wood and her family have lived in Miami for six years. Jennie May has a young son, about four years old.

Mary Wilkerson teaches art and some literary work in Cooper Hall, a private school for girls in Rome, Ga.

1925

Frances Camp lives now at 996 West Peachtree, Atlanta. She completed her training for the R.N. degree at St. Luke's Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla., and held a position in the hospital until she had to resign because of a heart condition. She does beautiful knitting as a hobby.

Lurline (Cannon) Hazen's husband has taught vocational agriculture in the Sparks-Adel High School for 15 years. They have two sons, Ted, age 6½, and Cecil, almost 2.

One of the most important people working in the Bibb County Civilian Defense Council is Frances (Peabody) McKay, who is in charge of Publicity and Information, and is responsible for coordinating all work of defense in this field.

Mary (Wilson) Stevenson writes that she has never been better in her life. She and her husband still live in Asheville, N. C., at 5 Cleveland Ave.

1926

Elizabeth (Anderson) Rankin's composition, "Mist," was sung recently by Max Morgan on his Rochester, New York recital. Press notices commented particularly on the beauty of the song, and "Liz" has been receiving the congratulations of her friends in the Morning Music Club.

Mildred Hale is now Mrs. V. J. Love of 711 Commercial Ave., Clifton Forge, Virginia.

Katherine (Lowe) Clarke of Marshallville has a second son, George Clisby Clarke II, born October 14. "Tad" is now almost six years old.

Camille Maynard of Winder is head of the English department of the Douglas County High School in Douglasville.

Theo (Milligan) Everett's husband is connected with Sears, Roebuck Co. They make their home with Theo's widowed mother in Moultrie.

Virginia (Williams) Wight is prominent in social and church activities of Buena Vista. She has three children, Burton, Jr., 11, and twins seven years old, Carolyn and Lawrence.

Naomi (Smith) Hodges and her husband are active in community and church work in their community, near Statesboro. Their only child, a daughter in high school, is talented in music, and is looking forward to going to Wesleyan when she graduates.

1927

Sarah (Additon) Morris of Toccoa has two children, Jerry, 8; and Beverly, 5.

Virginia (Bracey) Shepard's husband is associated with Charles W. Shepard Co., cotton buyers, of Gadsden, Ala. Their two children are: Virginia, 8; and Neel Bracey, 5.

Annie Laura Daniel's husband, Robert A. Daniel of Leslie, is a well-known farmer of Sumter County. Annie Laura has been teaching English and French in the Americus High School since 1937.

Sue (Moore) LeRoy has a little daughter, Caroline, about three months old.

Ruth (Ricketson) Whipple's husband is chaplain and teacher of Bible at the Georgia State Military College in College Park, and the family lives at 214 E. Rugby Ave.

Marguerite (Turner) Sears and her husband have recently bought a lovely colonial home in Moultrie, Ga., where he is agent for Amoco.

1928

Frances (Allen) Nussbaum and her husband are connected with the Moultrie, Ga., Observer. Frances writes a column, "Looking 'Em Over." They have two little daughters, Helen and Patricia.

Arrie (Horton) Fisher, Conservatory, has a son, Jeff Jordan Fisher, born in November, 1941.

Frances (Yates) Chewning is interested in church and club work in Roanoke, Ala. She has two children, Sara Jean, 13; and Yancey, Jr., 5.

1929

Frances (Brabham) Turner lives now in Tifton, Ga. She has two attractive girls, Dorothy Vernon, and Katrina.

Elizabeth (Coleman) Snelling's husband is connected with Swift Co., Moultrie, Ga. They have a little daughter, Julianne Mercer, two years old. Betty's friends enjoy her lovely voice.

Eleanor Ethridge is head of the music department and Glee Club at Fassifern School for Girls, Hendersonville, N. C. She will get her Master's Degree in piano from Cincinnati Conservatory this summer.

Elizabeth (Gill) Blalock's husband is in the furniture business in Moultrie. They have three attractive children, Charles, Betty and Bebe.

Elizabeth (Schuessler) Cobbs' husband is with the Alabama Power Company in Gadsden, Ala. They have a little son, Richard Hooker Cobbs III, born March 18, 1935.

1930

Margaret Bennett is a teacher in the Demonstration School, Parker District, Greenville, S. C.

Mary (Callaway) Hoffman's husband is with Hoffman and Sons Jewelry Company in Gadsden, Ala.

Lena (Gresham) Stevenson has moved from Ft. Myers, Fla., to Atlanta, where her husband is principal of O'Keefe Senior High School.

Elizabeth McMahon is working in the office of the Midwestern Branch of the American Red Cross. Her business address is 1709 Washington St., St. Louis, Mo.

Clara (Jackson) Martin's husband is a partner in the law firm of Hood, Inzer, Martin and Suttle in Gadsden, Ala. They have two children, Ann, who started to school this year; and Frank, born May 5, 1938. On their way to Daytona Beach last summer, Clara and her family stopped by to see Christine (Glausier) Tidmore and her family in Dawson. Ann Martin and Jan Tidmore, Christine's oldest girl, were born within five days of each other.

1931

Eloise (Morrison) Aderhold is known to her friends in Moultrie to have a talent for home decoration. Her husband is a lawyer, and they have one little girl, Virginia, three years old.

1932

Mary (Felton) Paulk's husband is a doctor in Moultrie, Ga. They have a young son, Jimmy, three years old.

1933

Claudia (Groover) Jordan lives in Toccoa, Ga. She has one little daughter, Mary Ann, six years old.

Helen Mixon, Tarrytown, writes, "Most people would think my way of living hum-drum, but I have found it singularly happy. I gave up my position as sixth grade teacher in Glenwood four years ago to nurse my mother, who suffered a complete stroke of paralysis on the right side. Since that time she has improved greatly, and can now walk quite well with a cane. I have cared for my father this fall through an appendectomy and severe complications. We are all happy now in their return to normal health. I have a single brother who lives with us. Most of my spare time has been spent in Red Cross work."

Margaret (Murphey) Martin, her husband and young son have moved into the new home which they have bought in Macon, at 140 Jefferson Terrace.

Ruth (Walker) Nicholson's husband was elected state senator from Edgefield, S. C., in 1940.

Sympathy is extended to Ida Young and to her hister Clara (Young) Jordan, A.B. '37, in the death of their mother, Delle (Freeman) Young, A.B. '85, December 27, following a heart attack.

1934

Nelle (Edwards) Smith is as busy as several bees with defense work, Junior League work, and Writers' Club work in Macon. She does much of the publicity for defense work, especially radio work, and gives two regularly scheduled broadcasts a week on defense over a local station, as well as one weekly program on books for the Macon Writers' Club.

Louise (Johnson) Burks' husband is instructor in Spanish and candidate for the Ph.D. degree at the University of North Carolina. He holds the A.B. degree from the University of Mississippi and the M.A. from the University of Alabama, and had one graduate work in the Romance languages at the University of Puerto Rico.

Elizabeth (Ramsey) Foster was recently elected science teacher at Lanier High School for Boys in Macon.

1935

Sally (Gillespie) Murphey has a little daughter, Sally, born October 25.

Marion Beth Harris teaches in Rome, Ga. She sings in the choir of the First Methodist Church, and is a member of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Cornelia (Huffine) Haddle and her family live in Douglasville, where her husband is associated in business with her father. They have two children, a daughter, Pat, five, and a son, Jimmie, two.

Sally (Kelley) Rawlins lives near Douglasville, Ga. She has a little daughter, four years old, and a son, two.

Anne (Malone) Ballard of Rome has a young son a few months old, her third child.

1938

Ted Acree's marriage to Morgan Cantey of Ashburn was a lovely affair of February 13 in Rome. Morgan is a brother of Fannie (Cantey) Duggan of the class of 1921, now living in Washington, D. C.

Martha Beaty is teaching in Moultrie, Ga.

Virginia (Batchelder) Fincher's husband operates the Alpha Theater in Douglasville, and Virginia is continuing to teach mathematics in the Douglas County High School.

Elizabeth (Buff) Horgan's husband is a salesman for Swift and Company, in Moultrie. They have a year-old son, Wayne David, Jr.

Marybeth (Jones) Leach has moved to Danville, Virginia, where her husband is with the Cost Department of Riverside and Dan River Cotton Mills. Marybeth writes that they have found six other Georgia couples who have recently moved up. Her address is 221 Montague St., Apt. 2.

Catherine (Rogers) Glosser of Gadsden, Ala., has a baby daughter, Catherine Anna, born November 17, 1940. Her husband is director of the high school band in Gadsden. The band won second place in the state contest in Birmingham in October, 1941. The band which won first place was one which Mr. Glosser had directed until two years ago.

Barbara (Thomson) Wrightson of 422 S. Fairview Ext., Spartanburg, S. C., writes: "For some time I have meant to write and tell what I have done since leaving Wesleyan. Yesterday, when I received the card telling me that my alumnae magazine had been returned because of wrong address, I decided to sit right down and let you hear from me, for I miss the magazine when it doesn't come. It keeps me in touch with my old friends when otherwise I should not even know where they are. I graduated at the University of North Carolina in 1938 and married Ed C. Wrightson five days later. We had a wonderful four weeks honeymoon to Bermuda, traveled all over New York State and through the eastern part of Canada on our return.

"We now have two little girls, Barbara Lou, born September 15, 1939, and Hilda Anne, born July 16, 1941. We built a new house last November.

"Virginia Olson who was at Wesleyan with me has visited me. She lived in Chattanooga when we were in school, but now is Mrs. F. L. Schmoel, Jr., 810 W. Prospect, Appleton, Wisconsin. I often think of my year at Wesleyan, and although I graduated from another school, I still love Wesleyan."

Alberte Wolf, teaching at Colegio Buena Vista, Havana, Cuba, had as her guests during the Christmas holidays her mother, Dr. Jane E. Wolf of Wesleyan, and Dr. Nancy Stewart, A.B. 1929.

1939

Edna (Garrett) Cook writes: "Robert was transferred to Edison from Tifton as local manager of the Georgia Power Company here in August. That same month also marked the arrival of our little daughter whom we have named Joy. She's a red-head—just to be different from her parents, I suppose.

"I have just finished the November issue of the Wesleyan Alumnae Magazine, and I thoroughly enjoyed it. I guess in moving, my issue failed to reach me so Edwina (Arthur) Brooks, '39, lent me her copy. She is teaching the 3rd and 4th grades here.

"Virginia (Bryan) Myhand, '39, of West Point, Georgia also has a daughter, born December 5 named Merrilyn. In Virginia's unprejudiced opinion she's just beautiful!

"Mary Ann (Peacock) Powell, '36, is in Arlington now, but this year she has resumed her teaching and has the 1st and 2nd grades in Leary, Georgia. She goes back and forth each day, and says she really likes her work. We see the Powells quite often.

"I'm anxious to come back and see Wesleyan, and plan to, when my daughter can come with me."

Lila (Osborne) Patton, who married last June, has a lovely new home in Rome, Ga., where she is a worker in the First Methodist Church, and an active member of A.A.U.W.

Katherine (Parker) Saunders has a daughter, born in May, 1941.

Camille (Roberts) Day has a son, Marvin, Jr., born in December.

Among the speakers at Wesleyan in January was Charles Fairbanks, husband of Evelyn (Timmerman) Fairbanks, who gave an illustrated lecture on Indian Art. Mr. Fairbanks is archaeologist of the Ocmulgee National Monument in Macon, and he and Evelyn have a new home at Ocmulgee Fields.

1940

Florence (Goodman) Huff has a daughter, born November 22 in Tifton.

Martha (Hausmann) Zittrouer of Savannah has a little daughter, Margaret Ruth, born December 7, 1941.

Marion (Hobbs) Marsicano's husband received the B.S. degree at Long Island University where he was Phi Beta Kappa, and the M.D. degree from Duke University School of Medicine, where he was a member of the Theta Kappa Psi Medical Fraternity. He is connected with the Georgia state department of health. Her sisters, Marjorie (Hobbs) Douglas, A.B. '34, and June (Hobbs) Spann, A.B. '37, were attendants.

1941

Helen (Bacon) Brown has a son, John Ellis, born October in Chattanooga, Tenn.

National Officers of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association

President
Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie
(Sue Tanner)

First Vice-President
Mrs. W. C. Turpin, Jr.
(Edith Culpepper)

Second Vice-President
Mrs. Alonzo Domingos
(Lucia Chappell)

Third Vice-President
Ann Maria Domingos

Fourth Vice-President
Sara Jones

Secretary
Mrs. C. Baxter Jones
(Kitty Cater)

Treasurer
Mrs. A. L. Gilmore
(Rosaline Jenkins)

Executive Secretary
Jennie Loyall

Alumnae Editor
Eunice Thomson

Alumnae Trustees
Mrs. W. B. Jennings
(Mattie Huff)
Mrs. T. G. Polhill
(Mary Park)
Mrs. McKibben Lane
(Linda Lane)

Wesleyan Alumnae Clubs

Albany—Mrs. T. R. Thornton (Helen White), 1227 Rawson Dr.

Atlanta—Mrs. J. T. Stillwell, Jr., (Eleanor Atkinson) 166 Erie Ave., Decatur, Ga.

Augusta—Mrs. W. L. Osteen (Elaine Goodson), 2221 King's Way.

Birmingham, Ala.—Mrs. J. C. Crittenden (Anne Cunningham), 1108 S. 28th Street.

Brunswick—Mary Eunice Sapp, 528 Union Street.

Carrollton—Mrs. Buford Boykin (Aline Bradley)

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Mrs. F. L. Kibler (Lola Leete Parker), 588 S. Crest Rd.

Columbus—Mrs. W. J. Long (Patsy Howard), 2001 Dimon Circle.

Dublin—Mrs. Manly Smith (Annie Simons).

Elberton—Mrs. P. C. Maxwell (Esther Pierce) and Mrs. Raymond Stapleton (Vera Bond).

Gainesville, Fla.—Ruth and Marjorie White, 555 N. Roper St.

Grantville—Mrs. Stewart Colley (Mary Dudley Fort).

Havana, Cuba—Mrs. R. G. Malone (Annie Marchman), Ave. De La Par, No. 45.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Mary Miller, 2917 Olga Place.

LaGrange—Mrs. E. F. Stallings (Eleanor Dallis).

Macon—Mrs. J. Warren Timmerman (Marie Adams), 657 College St.

Marshallville—Mrs. C. C. Walker (Katherine Snooks).

Milledgeville—Mrs. M. B. Swearingen (Mary Louise Foster).

Millen—Mrs. Clyde Dekle, Jr. (Charlotte Tyus).

Miami, Fla.—Anne Bethune, Pan American Hotel.

Newnan—Mrs. R. O. Jones (Loula Evans).

Oxford-Covington—Mrs. E. W. Strozier (Mary Nell Wiley).

Perry—Martha Cooper.

Sandersville—Mrs. T. W. Gilmore (Winifred Rawlings).

Savannah—Mrs. M. B. Ellis (Marie Armand), 25 E. 46th St.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Mrs. C. W. Martin (Eloise Caswell), 234 21st Ave. N. E.

Tampa, Fla.—Mrs. R. F. McWilliams (Elva Kensinger), 907 S. Orleans.

Tifton—Mrs. R. E. Jones (Lillian Touchstone).

Thomson—Mrs. A. L. Gilmore, (Rosaline Jenkins).

Washington, D. C.—Agnes Leverette, 1630 16th St.

Waycross—Mrs. C. L. Spear (Eddie Mae Barrett).